A Big Hug

Mom, if I was able to catch for you a rainbow, I would do it for you to share its beauty on days when you feel lonely. I could build you a mountain that would be your own place of honesty, a place for you to be all alone. If I could hold your troubles in my two hands, I would throw them into the deepest blue sea, but all these things Mom, I can't build you a mountain, nor can I catch you a rainbow, so let me be what I can do best, to be a daughter who is always there for you.

Miss and love you lots Mom,

Love always, Becky
